TRIAL BY JURY.

A Crowded House at the Services Last Evening at the M. E. Church. Thursday's Daily.

A packed house at the meeting at the Methodist church last night. As announced, the service was a trial by jury, the following persons composing the jury: Messrs. Hardwick, Cross, Wheelan, Bolton, Sylvester, Lane, Campbell, Parrott, Mitchell, Murphy, Parent, Kirby. Any judge would think this a fairly intelligent jury. After they were seated, Mr. Miller sang "Our Father's Care," founded on Matt. x:29, and "Where Are the Nine?" He then arraigned the culprit, Jesus of Nazareth, instructing the jury that from the testimony of the witnesses that would appear they must render their verdict as to the foundation for His claim that He is the Son of God. The first witness was prophecy. Moses and Isaiah responded, and by many strong assertions declared him to be the person he represented. Counsel said he would call others, but their testimony was taken collectively. Acts x:43. Second witness—Angels. They foretold His birth; they announced it; they ministered to him; they were at the tomb on the morning of the resurrection; they attended him to Olivet when he ascended. Third—Friends. John the Baptist, Peter and John. Fourth—God. "This is my beloved Son, in Whom I am well pleased. Fifth—Nature. The winds and the sea obey him. Earth—The earthquake; the gaping tombs. Sun—"Now from the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land unto the ninth hour." Testimony of enemies—Judas—"I have betrayed innocent blood." Officers sent by high priests to arrest Him—"Never man spake like this man." Pilate—"I am innocent of the blood of this just person." Satan—"Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." Death—He is my conqueror. Last, the Holy Ghost, sent as promised to the disciples, fling them with courage so that they boldly preached Jesus, the Son of God. The unanimous verdict of the jury was then given to the audience—Thus Jesus has fully proven his claim to be the Son of God, the Saviour of men. The audience also united in the same verdict. Quite a large number indicated their desire to become Christians. Mr. Miller sang by request "My Mother's Hands." The large audience reluctantly left, after being dismissed for the second time. B. Beats the Klondike. Mr. A. C. Thomas, of Marysville, Tex., has found a more valuable discovery than has yet been made in the Klondike. For years he suffered untold agony from consumption, accompanied by hemorrhages; and was absolutely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. He declares that gold is of little value in comparison with this marvelous cure; would have it, even if it cost a hundred dollars a bottle. Asthma, Bronchitis and all throat and lung affections are positively cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Trial bottles free at Blakeley & Houghton's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Guaranteed to cure or price refunded.

Mrs. A. C. Stubling & Son have hybrid and tea roses, three and four years old at 25 cents; young roses in bud at 15 cents or two for 25 cents; carnations at 15 cents, two for 25 cents; white and yellow marigolds; heliotropes, geraniums and fuschias at 5 cents and up. Pansies 25 cts. per dozen. 4-windup One Minute Cough Cure, cures. That is what it was made for.

RATES FOR THE ENCAMPMENT.

Lines on Which Rates Have Been Reduced on Round-Trip Tickets.

Rates for the encampment over the Southern Pacific road and its branches will be one and one-third fare for the round trip. Each purchaser will pay full fare for a ticket one way and take a receipt from the agent for the same. These receipts will contain a certificate to be signed by the assistant adjutant-general, and will entitle the holder to return for one-third fare. The parties failing to secure these receipts at the time of purchasing tickets will lose the benefit of the reduced rates. These certificates must be presented at Portland as early as Saturday, the 21st, at No. 134 Third street, and grand central station for the main line on East Side and Woodburn Springfield branches, also West Side division main line. On the Yamhill division certificates will be presented to the agent at the foot of Jefferson street.

Rates over the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company's lines will be one and one-fifth fare for round trip on all their lines, except from Portland to The Dalles, where a special rate of $3 for the round trip has been made, and, as in the case of the Southern Pacific, the purchaser of a ticket will pay full fare one way and get a receipt and certificate, which, when signed by the assistant adjutant general, will entitle the holder to return for one-fifth fare.

The Corvallis and Eastern Railroad Company will give a rate of one and one-third fare for round trip on the railroad and one and one-fifth fare on the river. They will make arrangements with The Dalles, Portland and Astoria Navigation Company, so that tickets may be purchased clear through if desired, with conveniences for transfer at Portland.

Rates on the Oregon City Transportation Co.'s boats will be one and one-fifth fare for the round trip. Boats leave Independence and Salem on Monday, Wednesday and Friday; leaves Portland at 6:45 a. m., Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Rates on the Regulator Line will be $1 for the round trip from Portland to The Dalles; boats running daily leave Portland at 7 a. m. from foot of Oak street. Tickets will be on sale at the office, Oak-street dock, and must be purchased before going on board, as this rate will not be made by pursers except from way points. Parties who have never seen the celebrated locks at the Cascades can take advantage of this opportunity to do so at a very low rate.

Warde in "Virginus." A rather small audience greeted Frederick Warde at the Vogt last night. Indeed, when we consider the greatness of the man in the role he played, we cannot but feel surprised that he did not have a crowded house. Were it any ordinary theatrical performance, we would have been forced to say that it was well attended; but we are surprised when we think how seldom such an opportunity is presented to us, that so few took advantage of it.

Warde in "Virginus" is beyond our power of description. In a moment he passes from melancholy to cheerfulness, from sorrow to joy, from rage to kindness and affection, and carries his audience with him. His support is good throughout. In fact, some of those he has with him are artists, and, on the whole, the performance probably surpassed anything The Dalles has had in this line for a long time. When during the evening Mr. Warde answered a curtain call, he was presented with a beautiful bouquet with the compliments of his brother Elks, to which he responded in a manner that won the audience at once, and made the heart of every Elk beat with a true brotherly feeling.

SIDE COMBS NOW A NECESSITY.

They Are Made in Costly Shell and Amber for Women of Wealth.

Despite the fact that small side combs for the hair come in such cheap imitations at present, and are so universally worn as to be positively common, they are an absolute necessity for the prevailing mode of hair dressing. It is impossible to maintain the broad effect at the side, which is de rigueur to-day without the aid of these combs, and though a fashionable woman cries out against a fashion which can be so easily copied by her less favored sisters, from a money point of view, she has no alternative but to accept the side comb, though in such a style and at such a price as to render it inaccessible to the woman whose pocket-book is not well filled.

The large jewelry stores, whose patrons are among the Four Hundred, have showcases filled with these beautiful little combs, and importers and manufacturers are constantly devising new styles, new methods of decoration, new shapes and new materials, from gold to shell.

The latest and most popular combs are small, of shell amber, and handsomely decorated with finely cut steel. Sometimes the steel is merely a narrow band of steel; again it is arabesque, or pointed, or rounded, or a series of fleur-de-lis or clover leaves. The variety is limitless, and as they are expensive and not very easily copied in a cheaper comb, they are considered very chic.

The matron or maiden possessing a stock of unset gems has her combs of gold or silver set with precious stones, and many women who are known to be the owners of beautiful jewels and who would never be suspected of wearing an imitation gem buy the almost perfect counterparts of their real gems, which are shown in the shops, in order to preserve their more expensive combs. They urge in explanation that the combs are so apt to fall out of the soft, fluffy rolls of hair.

Amber combs just at present seem to be more in favor than the darker shell, especially for a woman with moderately light or red blood hair. The most up-to-date ones are studded with colored stones for evening wear, and if carefully chosen to harmonize or contrast with the color of the hair these brilliant ornaments are very becoming.—Chicago Tribune.

Rabbit, Not "Rabbit."

Those who have accepted the inconsistent name of Welsh rabbit for toasted cheese on the assumption that it was a corruption of Welsh "rarebit," will have to revise their view. According to a writer in MacMillan's Magazine, "Welsh rabbit" is a genuine slang term, belonging to a large group which describe in the same humorous way the special dish or product of a peculiar district. For example: An Essex lion is a calf; a Fieldane duck is a baked sheep's head; Glasgow magistrates, or Norfolk capons, are red herring; Irish apricots or Munster plums are potatoes; Grave-sand sweethearts are shrimps.

Old Slang Revived.

Slang is seldom new. "Not so worse" flourished briskly for a few months and has already fallen into well-deserved oblivion. Doubtless it seemed new for a time. Yet a letter written by a brilliant English magazine, Samuel Phillips, in 1845, published for the first time in Mrs. Oliphant's history of the house of Blackwood, contains this sentence: "One hundred pounds for a week's work! Not so worse!"
